

Harris Brown in Business 26 Years

Harris Brown, Kingston pioneer automobile tire man who instituted the slogan "If It's Tires, See Brown", will celebrate the 26th anniversary of his entering business on June 1. Although Mr. Brown was one of the pioneer tire men in Kingston in 1912 his experience in automobile tires dates back to 1905 when he began work in the Albany Vulcan-ing Works where he learned the trade.

At present Mr. Brown is proprietor of the Brown's Service, 144, opposite the central post office on Broadway where he operates a complete 24-hour service station and is local distributor for U. S. Tires.

Brown became interested in tires when the automobile industry was in its infancy and after learning the vulcanizing trade he continued to be connected with the tire business and in 1912 came to Kingston and opened a tire shop on Down street. At that time automobile tires were inferior to present day products and repairs and vulcanizing was a big part of the business. "Brown Sells Good Tires" was his slogan and this slogan was followed for many years until his present slogan, "If It's Tires, See Brown", was adopted when the tire manufacturers began turning out a standardized product which was superior to the old types that became unnecessary to advertise the fact that "good" tires were sold. For several years Mr. Brown has been local distributor of U. S. Royal tires.

From the small shop on Down street he moved to larger quarters on Broadway as his business grew and demanded more room. For several years he continued at 602 Broadway where Brock & Mar- is now located.

His business has continued to grow and he became a wholesaler and jobber as well as a retailer for United States Rubber products. On alterations being completed at the former American Cigar factory building on Broadway he moved to that location and opened Brown's Service center where he is now located. In addition to new tires he also deals in factory rebuts, tires, washing of cars, U. S. batteries, Richmond Sals and oils and operates a complete service station.

Not only is Harris Brown known in the tire industry, in which two brothers also build up large establishments, but he is well known in boxing circles. At one time Mr. Brown was one of the fast stepping boys in the Albany area and welded a mean glove since residing in Kingston he has been actively connected with the sport although he retired from the ring several years ago.

Hope Farm School Head Gave Address

Highland, May 13—Frank Behrend, superintendent of the Hope Farm School was the speaker at the ninth annual father and son banquet of the Highland Lili- ers held Wednesday evening in the Presbyterian Church hall.

Mr. Behrend substituted for Dr. A. K. Gelman, of the state department, who was unable to be present.

The speaker advised students to do their jobs cheerfully without bickering as a part of their ability to work; that there was a need to work and a need of training. That work was necessary for living but living was bigger than just a job. That in learning to do jobs to develop some interest, some philosophy. This comparison with the other fellow who had more tendency to make one sour, out to compare with the other fellow who had less offered satisfaction, but don't always be unhappy if you don't have the most. He concluded with tales of amusing and strange happenings during his travels in Samoa, New Guinea, Malay Peninsula, Hong Kong and Java. He was accompanied by Mr. Fink, principal of the Hope Farm School.

Constantine Triantafyllidis, one of the students in the vocational agricultural department of the school, acted as toastmaster and introduced Principal A. Herbert Campbell, who said he had taken part in six of the banquets and extended a welcome. Abraham Deyo then told of the activities of the students of that department during the past year. He centered his remarks around the meet- ing in Goshen last fall and the visit to Sheffield farms. Patsy Conforti gave an account of the annual visit to the state fair by the judging team. Donald Hegeman had the Kingston show and of that part the students had in judging apples and their diseases. Fred Gruner recounted the trip to the Farm and Home week in Ithaca in February. He told of the parts the local students took in apple and cattle judging and shop contests.

Mr. F. Winchester, a former instructor in the department, said he left a meeting in his school district in Dutchess county to be present and greet his former students. Mr. Winchester in September assumed the office of school superintendent across the river. Albert Kurdt, of Kingston, County Farm Bureau agent, said the department in the local school was the first agricultural department to be started in the county and held an enviable record. Andrew W. Lent representing the board of education, briefly gave his pleasure and appreciation of the opportunity to be present.

Arthur J. Poelma, the present instructor, presented the emblems to two different groups. The first awards went to Stewart Mosher, Donald Hegeman, Louis Anella, Lloyd Bennett, Patsy Conforti, William Donovan, George Hoff, Louis La Falce, Frank Roberto. The second to Fred Gruner, Eugene Imperato, Donato Rutigliano, Carmine Sabarese, Cos Trapani, Ernest Trapani. These were emblems of achievement and Mr. Poelma said students must be 14 years of age and entered in the agricultural course in the school to be eligible for the emblems; the second is the Future Farmer degree. Students during their first year in the agriculture department must by work or sales earn $25, learn parliamentary rules and be able to lead in group discussions. For the third degree the student must have completed two projects, increased his savings and enlarged a previous project. Mr. Poelma emphasized the achievements to be attained and challenged the young men to greater efforts in working for the State Farmers and American Farmer degrees. The emblems are of felt and are to be worn on the sweaters.

Seated at the speakers' table were: Arthur Poelma, Albert Kurdt, A. H. Campbell, Milo F. Winchester, the Rev. D. S. Haynes, who asked the blessing, John J. Gaffney, A. W. Lent, Donald Hegeman, Fred Gruner, Cos Trapani, Patsy Conforti, Abraham Deyo. Others present were: W. T. Burke, John Crowley, George

May and son, former supervisor Nathan D. Williams, Patsy Esposito, Charles Champlin, A. W. Williams, Clarence W. Rathgeb, Richard Hayes, William Dodge, A. W. Deyo, Richard Dowd, Jr., Robert Woodley, John Amodeo, Joseph Cusumano, Forest Imperato, Eber Palmer, Sr., Eber Palmer, Jr., Louis Gruner, Jack La Falce. Approximately 50 persons were present.

The high standing of the department is attested by the display of 11 plaques and nine silver cups and numerous blue ribbons which were exhibited on a table. The supper of fruit cup, roast beef, mashed potatoes, carrots and peas, cole slaw, rolls, apple pie, coffee was served by members of the Ladies' Aid Society with Mrs. William Dodge as chairman.

American Legion Membership Drive

A call to all eligible veterans to join the American Legion has been issued by Commander Harry L. Kirchner of Kingston Post, No. 150. Every ex-service man in Kingston is familiar with the activities of Kingston Post, said Commander Kirchner. Not only do we stand by the American principles and ideals and its institutions, but we also endeavor to promote the spiritual and physical welfare of our comrades, he declares.

The Post points with pardonable pride to the comfort and aid the Legion Works Bureau has brought to all veterans regardless of Legion affiliation. Through the untiring efforts of Officer Harry R. Karnaghan unemployed veterans have been placed in jobs even though most of the jobs are of a temporary nature. There are veterans into whose life misfortune has come and to whom immediate aid must be rendered through the alertness and tactful management on the part of the service officer. Past-Commander Eugene B. Carey. Through the patriotic spirit of Walter Fuller, chairman on Americanism, Kingston Post, No. 150, is actively engaged in maintaining the Legion principles as outlined in the preamble to the constitution. The Post is doing its utmost to instill in the hearts and minds of its young people, the boys and girls of the Legion, a true love for American ideals. Legionnaires William Jordan and Edward J. Luedtke are the leaders.

World's Fair—"Good Will" Car Here Soon

The U. S. Rubber Company's 49 "Good Will" cars which left the site of the New York World's Fair on May 2 to traverse the entire United States, are rolling up miles which by June first will total a distance of five times around the earth, according to Harris Brown, local U. S. Tire dealer, who will be one of the hosts on May 28 when the "Good Will" car will visit Kingston.

As a promotion stunt for the New York World's Fair of 1939, the 49 cars left the site of the fair on May 2, with one car being dispatched to each of the 48 states of the union and the 49th car being sent to Washington, D. C. The cars will tour every state, making visits at all of the capitals as well as key cities in each state.

"These cars will be driven by U. S. Rubber field engineering organization and will be equipped with new U. S. Royal Master safety tires," said Mr. Brown. "In addition to representing the World's Fair, the 49 cars on tour will form, with the cooperation of the American Automobile Association, a nation-wide safety driving demonstration. U. S. Rubber's field engineering personnel have been made special members of the

A. A. A. and the United States Safety Society and to them has been entrusted the responsibility of the tour," said Mr. Brown. The New York state car will be in Kingston on Saturday, May 28, stopping at Brown's Service while here.

PUBLIC AWARENESS

Public awareness of the need for safe driving was given by the National Safety Council as the probable reason for the marked decline in traffic fatalities that has occurred since November of last year. The Council gives the press of the nation a large measure of credit for creating the awareness.

In an effort to cut down highway slaughter, The Freeman has joined wholeheartedly in the work of public safety agencies and organizations and police authorities. Recent publications of "Safety Tips" by Captain Daniel E. Fox of the New York Police and safety articles by Lieutenants Phinney and Simpson of the local police force are examples of the cooperation. Tales of gore and horror, of mangled bodies and broken homes have confronted the potential drunken and reckless driver at every turn. Apparently these "messages from the dead" have had the desired effect. In addition to this form of "education", automobiles and highways have been made safer from an engineering standpoint, better laws have been adopted and enforcement has been more rigid.

If the present downward trend of automobile fatalities continues those who have died in automobile accidents will not have died entirely in vain. Their sacrifice will have served toward putting an end to needless slaughter of human life on the highway. But in the months and years to come there must be no relenting, no let-up in the drive to make our highways safe. Death traps such as railroad crossings must be eliminated and the laws must be enforced and stiff punishment meted out to all violators.

COOLING TOWARD JAPAN

One remarkable effect of the Japanese reverses in China has been the shift of attitude in Germany. That country has a military alliance with Japan. It has not counted for much in the actual warfare in China, for German army experts have been serving as advisers to Chiang Kai Shek and are credited with some of the recent Chinese success. But the Alliance has been regarded as valid with respect to Russia, the common enemy of both Germany and Japan. Now even that bond seems to be slipping. A recent dispatch from Berlin says:

"Public opinion throughout Germany is becoming increasingly pro-Chinese, and the man in the street, as well as the professional soldiers who inspired the German-Japanese agreement, are increasingly wondering just what Germany has to gain from her partnership with Nippon if Japan is weakened seriously by her adventure in China. The German general staff wonders now just how effective the Japanese would be as a Nazi ally in a possible war against Russia."

Nothing succeeds like success, and nothing fails like failure. It is clear in Europe, as in America, what a great loss of prestige Japan has already suffered. The world is now asking whether Japanese invincibility has been a mere tradition, based on bluff and failure to match strength with a really first-class power.

Japan, very proud and humiliated already by "losing face", will doubtless make a supreme effort in China. If that fails, she may sink definitely to the status of a second or third rate power. It would be a terrible fall for a nation credited with aiming at world conquest.

WARTS

It is hard for a grown-up to say just what is the accepted procedure nowadays among children for getting rid of warts on the hands. Children always have their own system of magic about such things, changing a little in procedure from generation to generation but remaining the same in principle. A friend says the sure cure for warts when he was young was to bury a dishrag under a stone doorstep. When the rag rotted, the wart would be gone.

There must be countless variations of this formula. An old-timer recalls that a common method in his boyhood was for the afflicted to rub a penny on the wart and then throw it away over his left shoulder, making no effort to find it again. Another way was to bury the penny under the house eaves, where the water dripped on it. Rain troughs were not so common then as they are now.

The remarkable thing about it is that such magic always seemed to work. It merely took a little longer than the modern, scientific practice of burning them off with silver nitrate or an electric needle. Perhaps, in any case, it was a triumph of faith. But it's hard to say. Perhaps the warts would have disappeared anyway—they always seem to, in time, like most other abnormalities. Some very modern doctors are saying that the body knows more than they do, and usually cures itself, and all they can do is to help a little.

PAINT ON THE ROCK

It was probably no Communist plot that caused Plymouth Rock to glow with red paint the other day. Young smart alecks attempting a practical joke, perhaps, or some crank with a distorted need for self-expression or vengeance. Collegiate America has long delighted in painting numerals on smokestacks or other prominent structures. Cranks and souvenir hunters in this country, perhaps in others, never hesitate to mar the object of their immediate interest.

It is to be hoped that the authorities will capture the vandals and punish them fittingly. Theirs was a stupid act. But there is no occasion for getting excited about a red menace in Plymouth. The Plymouth Rock is indeed a much-treasured historic relic which stirs the feeling of local citizens and those from distant regions, but the fate of the nation does not rest upon it today.

Mayor Frank Hague is riding to a fall. Some day he'll try making a speech in somebody else's town, and get what's coming to him, and a lot of old-fashioned Americans will take an unconstitutional joy in it.

The worst thing about columns and columnists is the way people get tangled up in pronouncing 'em.

Maybe "a state can do no wrong," but a statesman can.

The only real internationalism is found in opera. Music always had charms to soothe the savage breast.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

EXERCISE FOR DELICATE CHILDREN
I have spoken before of the number of recruits who were rejected for war service because the chest was too small. Practically every one of these young fellows, on questioning stated that they had never played games because their parents were afraid they would get hurt.

When parents see that their children are not as others, underweight, tall for their age, round of drooping shoulders, it is only natural that they are somewhat alarmed at the thought of games or vigorous exercise. The result is that these youngsters do not get any exercise, and properly directed exercise at this "growing" age is exactly what the body, including heart and lungs, greatly needs.

There are children who show pallor, excessive growth, muscular weakness, bad posture—sitting and standing. There are rapid fatigue, palpitation of the heart, aches in the side, stomach ache, headache, dizziness and fainting spells.

Dr. L. F. Meyer, in Oriental Journal of Internal Medicine, reports that the general test of circulation by exercise (10 deep bends of the knees) shows that this group reacts otherwise than completely healthy children. The pulse remains fast in one-third of the children for longer than five minutes after exercise. The blood pressure differs from normal for it also remains high for more than five minutes. These two tests—heart beat and blood pressure increased for longer than five minutes—show insufficiency of circulation and inability to react properly from exercise.

Upright posture—sitting and standing straight—is a strain on these children. Signs of fatigue come sooner than in normal children; headache, dizziness, and even fainting fits may occur.

Dr. Meyer suggests that as these children are nearing puberty, the circulation may improve and be equal to the demands made upon it. However the treatment recommended is "invigoration of the body by gymnastics and sport, especially by breathing exercises."

The point then for parents is to have these slender, gangling, pale, overgrown children attend a gymnasium where exercise and group games are supervised. All group games not only strengthen the circulation by calling on the heart and lungs for more blood, but develop self reliance in these delicate children.

OCTAGON HOUSE

BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

The story so far: Quoniam is a crowd when its citizens are crowded when its citizens are crowded. The next night the critic's wife, murdered under her father's knife, Pam's cry appeals to Ascy May, Cape Cod detective, telling him she found $50,000 worth of ambergris which Marina tried to elude, and hid it after discovering Marina dead in the garage. Because Ascy indicates that someone in the woods smokes Turkish tobacco is interesting, she announces a false hiding place for the ambergris. Pam is under the wharf as police crime. They are sure Pam is the murderer, but Doctor Cummings never it was done by a left-handed person.

Chapter Seven

Danger

"FURTHERMORE," Ascy continued tranquilly, "I'm sort of sick and tired of doing Hanson's work for him. He says this is clear as crystal, you say it ain't. Can't you compromise on the air's in a way? Here I, I'm sleepy, and the don't move me much one way or the other. Kind of a common-place murder, when you come right down to it. Girl stabbed. That's all there is to it. Girl stabbed. Now, if you had a couple of huns in a row, or someone stood up against the music on a movie down with a machine gun, why that'd be different. But—girl stabbed!"

The doctor gaped at him. "Well, really," he said. "Really! If that's the way you feel—come on, Hanson. Let's battle it out to a finish—ouch! Ow! Ascy, why can't you fix your damned wharf? I nearly broke my neck on that loose board!"

Ascy watched them stride up the path—he tensed to the cars as they roared off in the direction of Quoniam.

"Okay, Pam," he said. "Come on out. Are you frozen?"

She swung herself up on the wharf. "No, the water's not so cold—Ascy, why'd you do that? Why didn't you go over?"

"Because," Ascy said, "I didn't want to leave you wanderin' around loose to catch pneumonia, or meet up with our fine feathered friend the listener, who ought to be comin' back pretty soon to find out more about the ambergris. I think. Hustle up to the house. We got things to think about."

Pam chuckled. "Now that the sheer terror is beginning to wear off," she said, "I'm almost enjoying myself. Cummings isn't on edge, is he? I nearly giggled out loud when he yelled at that loose board—he really didn't trip, you know. He just yelled because he was sore at you, and he had to take it out some way."

"He yelled," Ascy said, "because I pinched him from the rear. He'll be back shortly, and find out what's gone on. The doc's got considerable more brains than most folks, includin' Hanson, suspect."

Unknown Watcher

UP IN his house, Ascy unstrapped a suitcase and rummaged through it.

"Here," he said triumphantly, producing a pair of binoculars. "Knew there was in the clean lot. They got shrunk so they're about your size, an' here's a shirt. An' a sweater I was bringin' home to Betsy Porter, but your need's greater'n hers. Upstairs, first left, there's a bathroom. Take a hot bath, please, an' a cold shower, an' leave food in the bedroom next door. Get up, there while I do some organizing to-day."

There was cold roast beef in his refrigerator, potato salad and a custard pie—all donations from his cousin Syl's wife. With the deftness acquired from his earlier days at sea, when he was a cook, Ascy dressed up a tray, brewed coffee, and ate it all in a twinkling.

He never thought to pull down the shades in his kitchen, nor did it occur to him to look outside the window, where a figure watched with interest as Ascy left with the heaped-up tray for Pam. Ascy returned, sat down at the kitchen table and ate his own meal. At its conclusion he eyed with the carving knife beside the platter of beef.

Knives. He knew all about knives. He had learned about knives in a series of installments over a long period of years, and from a strange and widely scattered assortment of people. There was that Japanese cook and his razor sharp cutlery, and the son of an Italian mar, and the stiletto of that Spaniard in Hong Kong. The Spaniard and Ascy had got to be friends, later; he'd taught Ascy a lot about knives, and knives needed knowing. Practically any fool could pull a trigger, but a neat stabber, a smooth thrower, a knife that took a bit of skill.

Ascy balanced the carving knife. Somewhere around the house he had a jackknife with a six inch blade. For fun, he'd get it out. Probably he'd be no use with it. You had to keep in trim to play with knives.

The watcher outside stared intently, and fondled the gun in a hip pocket. Actually neither Ascy nor the girl had to be killed. Ascy would be put out of business, and, well, if there were trouble with the girl—

Slowly the gun was raised.

Knock At The Door

Ascy continued to finger the carving knife. He had on the whole a nice balance. He flexed his wrist, and took on sudden impulse buried the knife at the bread board, hanging on the wall next to the window. Instinctively, the watcher ducked.

"Huh," Ascy said to himself with quiet pride, watching the knife quiver in the exact center of the

GHOSTLY DIALOGUE

By BRESSLER

BABSON on BUSINESS

TWO THINGS CONGRESS MUST DO

Babson Backs Up President's Recommendations

Babson Park, Mass., May 13.—

Cutting out tax-exemption on new public bonds and softening the capital gains tax would be the biggest immediate help which Congress could give the country now.

It would end in binging an end to the strike of capital which started last August. Taxing new government bonds and easing the levy on capital gains should force billions of dollars into new enterprises. These two steps are more important to recovery than the appropriation of the new $5,000,000,000 spending program.

Basically, taxes should be limited to raising money to pay public expenses. The soundest way to do this is to abandon all present federal levies except estate taxes and the income tax, and to rely thereon. Present revenue measures are like a Chinese puzzle to figure out. They are unwise and restrictive. The framers of the newer tax statutes had no idea what their ultimate effect would be. They did not realize, for instance, that a higher levy on personal holding companies, coupled with John L. Lewis' suit, would be largely responsible for throwing 4,000,000 people out of work between last August and this May.

What Higher Taxes Did.

Personal holding companies formerly held a tax advantage for wealthy individuals. Dividends and interest from investments could accumulate in these holding companies tax-free by paying a flat corporation income tax of around 15 per cent. But if the dividends were paid direct they had to be put through the owner's personal tax return at rates as high as 55 per cent. For several years Treasury experts had tried to stop this "loophole," but until 1937 it was still cheaper to use the holding company device. Finally, last August, a bill was pushed through Congress which lifted the tax rate on these companies to 80 or 90 per cent. Immediately their owners began to sell their stockholdings and to place them with tax-free government bonds.

Under the three year rule of the Securities Exchange Commission the stock market had become very "thin." Prices often changed faster in a day than they fluctuated in a week ten years before. Hence the market was unable to absorb these big blocks of securities which the holding companies wanted to get rid of. Prices naturally began to sink. Then high margins brought on selling from other sources. One forced sale would uncover another's stop-loss order. Within a month what began as an orderly retreat had turned into a rout. For the first time in its experience, a stock market crash brought on a business decline bringing on a stock market crash.

Reforming By Taxes Bad Business.

The drafters of last August's increase in personal holding company taxes little dreamed that it would touch off one of the sharpest recessions in history. The experience is a vivid illustration of the danger of tampering with our economic machinery. It shows the dynamite in using the tax power as a reform club. Business is like a watch. You cannot take off one wheel to repair it and expect the other wheels to keep good time. Our crazy-quilt tax law is the biggest problem we face today. Unemployment, crops, labor strife, spending, and all our other worries are "junior" to it. We are now wallowing in a stupor of recession. Yet ours is the greatest and richest nation in the world. Gigantic mineral and farm wealth, unlimited factory and machine equipment, and unprecipitated credit reservoirs are

HUDSON RIVER STEAMBOATS

These articles are written from the collection of George W. Murdock, veteran marine engineer.

No. 32—Escort

The "Escort" was built at Mystic Bridge, Conn., in 1863, and was 185 feet long, carrying a gross tonnage of 675 and a net tonnage of 500. She was propelled by a vertical beam engine.

Built for service in the east, the "Escort" sailed the waters of the Connecticut river and Long Island Sound and was then chartered to the government in the Quartermaster's Department during the Civil War. At the close of the war she was brought north again and used in eastern waters until 1873.

The "Escort" was then purchased by Catskill people and put in service on the Catskill and New York night line.

In 1883 the "Escort" was rebuilt and her name was changed to the "Catskill". She ran in line with the "Kaaterskill" and "Walter Brett".

On September 22, 1897, the "Catskill" was rammed and sunk off West 57th Street, New York, about seven o'clock in the evening by the steamer "St. Johns", owned by the Central Railroad of New Jersey. There were 46 passengers aboard the "Catskill" and all escaped except a five year old boy, Bertie Timmerman of Leeds, who was drowned. At the time of the accident, the "Catskill" had an unusually heavy cargo of freight aboard for her north-bound trip. The usual signal whistles were blown but there was evidently a misunderstanding and the two vessels came together with a crash that could be heard for some distance along the waterfront. The excursion steamer struck the "Catskill" on the starboard side about 30 feet aft of the bow and tore a great hole in her side, the whole depth of her guards and freeboard and way below the waterline. Captain Braisted of the "St. Johns", seeing that the damage to the "Catskill" was serious and that the vessel would sink, blew his whistle for aid and a passing steamer and some rushed to the assistance of the "Catskill" and took off the passengers.

The "Catskill" was raised and rebuilt, being lengthened from 185 feet to 226 feet two inches, and her tonnage was increased from 675 gross tons to 816 gross tons. Her name was then changed to the "City of Hudson", and when she made her appearance she gave the impression of being an entirely new vessel. The "City of Hudson" continued running on the Catskill line until the fall of 1910 when she was laid up at Newburgh, having outlived her usefulness. She was purchased by Charles E. Bishop of Rondout and Abram W. Parsell of Port Ewen in October, 1911, and was taken to Port Ewen where she was dismantled, her engine and boiler being junked and her woodwork used for fuel in burning brick on a brickyard.

ours. What has gone wrong? My answer is that those who control the wealth and industry of the nation have joined labor and consumers in a strike! These capitalists refuse to risk their money (and every business deal is a risk) unless they can make, and retain, a fair profit. They feel that the Administration has "stacked the deck" so they have gone on a "sit-down" of their own!

End The Strike Of Capital.

Add this capital strike to renewed labor troubles, plus the consumers "sit-down", and we have business stagnation. The new Roosevelt spending program has been given a cold and clammy reception. In 1932 and '33 we needed pump-priming. We needed to inflate the business balloon and get it off the ground. But we do not need inflating or priming today. What we need now is a little assurance that the "heads-I-win, tails-you-lose" game is over. Banks do not need bolstering; utilities do not need money; labor does not need higher wages; but capital does need to be put to work!

A lower capital gains levy and the taxing of new public bonds could change the entire picture. They could drive hoarded and "dead" money into new enterprises and new industries. They could end the present business "stand-still." Eliminating tax-exemption on new bonds, however, means that public borrowing would cost the taxpayer more money through higher interest rates. Hence, the passage of a modified tax on capital gains must be a running-mate of any measure eliminating tax-exempt bonds in other words, force capital to work, on the one hand, by ending tax-exemption; encourage it to work, on the other, by lowering the tax on capital gains.

These Are Emergency Measures.

If we expect owners of capital to launch new industries we must assure them that if they are suc-

CLENCHED FISTS open as women in Fascist-taken Catalonia change from "clenched-fist" salute of the Spanish government to open palms greeting Franco.

ON ROLLING EARTH GUNS BLAZED A LIVID TRAIL as pounding artillery of Francisco Franco's insurgent army laid the barrage that helped drive a wedge separating Catalonia from the rest of government Spain, along the eastern coast. This area was subdued by a rolling barrage from 75-millimeter guns and 155-millimeter "long rifles" and howitzers. The subsequent advance of infantry was accompanied by lighter field pieces for use at close range in anti-tank action. Franco's military strategy has been adapted to above rough terrain.

GOVERNMENT POSTERS were quickly burned when Generalissimo Francisco Franco's victorious insurgent soldiers entered the village of Chert, Spain, on the rebels' march to the sea. These proclamations had rallied citizens to oppose the oncoming insurgent troops.

LEST NAZI EYES read words and doctrine not acceptable to the German Reich, 1,200 books on the Nazi Index Expurgatorius were burned with flaming ceremony at the Residenzplatz in Salzburg. Most active on occasion were the grinning young boys, members of the Hitler Youth organization. Boy at right holds book by Heinrich Heine, a Jew—hence not for Nazi eyes.

'I WAS CHAMPEEN', says George Green to his visitors at Laguna Honda home in San Francisco, "champeen welterweight." As Young Corbett he fought mysterious Billy Smith at Carson City, Nev., on March 17, 1897, on the same card that saw James J. "Gentleman Jim" Corbett mix with Bob Fitzsimmons. The world's "champeen welterweight" is now nearing 70 years.

During the evening the officers gave a beautiful degree in honor of Mrs. Budington, and she was presented with a basket of flowers and other gifts. The officers of the court wore crowns of apple blossoms and apple blossom corsages. During the festivities Mrs. Marion Hudler sang several selections. There were a number of refreshments served in the district. Following the reception a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served.

Fruit blossom time or after the last killing frost in a locality is the time to remove winter packing from the bees.

Sometimes horses are thin in flesh because of irregularities of the teeth, which prevents thorough grinding of the feed.

Superphosphate is needed on all pastures. When the land is too acid to grow clover, superphosphate alone will not suffice, and lime should also be used.

Each year more farmers are interested in equipping their spray rigs with rubber tires.

These rigs do not get stuck in the mud as often, less jar and vibration result, and they go faster to and from the water supply.

The familiar small red-orange beetle with black spots on its back, called the "lady beetle," is one of the most helpful of all insects because it eats the plant lice or aphids that attack so many garden plants.

Car Drivers Not Highways Blamed For Auto Mishaps

A survey of Ulster county state highways has recently been completed by D. V. Z. Bogert, county engineer for the State Highway Department, for the purpose of ascertaining the cause for fatal accidents in Ulster county during the past year with the view of ascertaining whether highway conditions were responsible for the accidents.

After a very careful inspection of highway conditions at the point of serious accidents, Mr. Bogert found that the majority of accidents happened on the state highways either on straight-ways or where there was no highway condition which might be held as a contributing cause. The inspection was for the purpose of ascertaining whether bad conditions might not have contributed to prevent future accidents. In the majority of cases, and there were few exceptions, the accidents were found to have happened at points where only the failure of the driver could be held responsible. In several places accidents were found to have happened on absolute straightways and in most of these cases an investigation into the records of the accident disclosed that intoxication had been given as the cause by officers who made immediate investigation. In other cases it was found the accidents had been caused by persons familiar with the location but failed to use ordinary precautions.

Where some highway condition contributed to the cause a study will be made to better the condition. In some parts of the county new alignments will eliminate curves and make for greater safety. One of these routes is 9-W in town of Marlborough where a new road will replace the present two strip route which is full of sharp curves and grades. Completion this summer of the Esopus town line-Hudon bridge circle strip of pavement will remove another of the county's dangerous narrow routes. The Kingston-West Hurley road out Route 23 will also eliminate some dangerous road.

In general Mr. Bogert's survey indicated that it was the failure of human judgment, rather than road conditions, which were actually responsible for the majority of accidents.

They Visited Churches
Los Angeles, May 13 (AP)—Don Teel attended church regularly. In fact, he visited more than 100 churches between Los Angeles and San Francisco in the past month. From each, he told police today, he and his partner took small collection funds. "We worked the churches because they're easy—no one around," said the 18-year-old youth. Teel was charged with suspicion of burglary. Police claimed they found his fingerprints on the windowsill of a burglarized house. "I should have stuck to churches," Teel sighed.

Walmley Designated
Troy, N. Y., May 13 (AP)—Robert Walmley, of Nyack, was designated as candidate for District Governor of the 17th District, Rotary International, by the annual conference last night.

Wallace Says Court Reverses Order

The National Labor Relations board moved to withdraw several of its orders against large industrial firms.

Wallace's letter to the chief justice said in part:

"You will be interested to know that the practice you now recommend, that the examiner conducting the hearing make a report which is available to both parties for exceptions and argument, was adopted by this department about 20 months ago.

"You will recall that when you remanded this same case to the lower court in May, 1936, you discussed this question and at that time you wrote: 'We can not say that that particular type of procedure was essential to the validity of the hearing. The statute does not require it and what the statute does require relates to substance and not form.'

Felt Adoption Would Help
"Although you pointed out that such procedure was not required, we nevertheless felt that its adoption would help to assure fair play to all parties and made it a part of our regular procedure in all cases arising under the packers and stockyards act and similar legislation.

"I am glad to know that the court has now approved the procedure which the department already had inaugurated."

Wallace's letter set out that "up until this present administration no examiner's report in connection with hearings under the packers and stockyards act had been thought essential."

Was 'Touring' U. S. In Plymouth Car Stolen in Buffalo

Joseph Sabo, 24, who gave his birthplace as Saskatchewan, Canada, and his present address as 22 Mutual street, Toronto, was brought to the Ulster county jail last night by investigators Metzger and Reynolds of the B. C. I., and is being held for the Buffalo police on a charge of stealing a car.

Sabo was picked up in Highland yesterday by Sergeant Hulse and Trooper Baker whose attention was called to the erratic manner in which he was driving. He was taken to the Highland sub-station for questioning and when it developed that he had no owner's license for the car, was turned over to the B. C. I. men. The latter say that he admitted having crossed from Canada and taken the 1937 Plymouth cabriolet belonging to a Buffalo man and driving across the state as far as Highland. Sabo said that he had always wanted to tour the United States. According to the officers he also admitted having taken cars at different times in Canada and later abandoning them.

In addition to notifying the Buffalo police the troopers also notified federal authorities of Sabo's illegal entry into this country.

The Noise Got Him
New York, May 13 (AP)—A truck can make enough noise in upsetting to give away any theft, but when you add the clatter of tin cans bouncing along a paved street—that's why the police today have a prisoner accused of stealing a truck. The truck upset while speeding from a tavern where the driver had parked it, and the cargo—empty pretzels—fell out. The prisoner said he was William McClelland, 24, of Englewood, N. J. He was accused of grand larceny.

Maple Sugar Less
Albany, N. Y., May 13 (AP)—An unusually early New York state growing season which permitted advanced planting and seeding of most crops resulted in a small, inferior maple sugar output. A report of the United States Department of Agriculture today gave estimated 1938 maple production as 588,000 gallons of syrup and 260,000 pounds of sugar.

Sundown Stories

—By Mary Graham Bonner—

The Disappointment

THIS time the rope did not break and slowly, slowly they pulled something along with it.

The heart of each duck was beating excitedly. Even their feathers, wet as they were, were shaking with excitement, too.

It took all their duck strength to bring forth the chest that was tied with the rope—for now they were quite sure the hidden treasure was a chest full of gold or jewelry.

At last they got it away from the roots and stones and mud that had been holding it fast and then they brought forth—an old, heavy, water-soaked log.

Their disappointment was very great. At that moment Christopher Columbus Crow flew overhead.

"We thought we had something—and it turned out to be nothing," quacked Mrs. Quacko.

"We thought it was the treasure chest and it was nothing but an old log," cried little Yellow Beak.

He was very sad that he had not discovered the hidden treasure after all. "You may still be the one to find it," Mrs. Quacko told little Yellow Beak soothingly. "You've at least seen to it that we removed something big. The treasure may be underneath. The log may have kept it down." But no treasure was to be found there.

"I've always heard," cawed

Christopher, "that discoverers and explorers had many disappointments before they had success."

"That's true I'm sure," quacked Mr. Quacko. And at once they all went to work again.

Although they were as tired as they could be, they were determined to do their duck best to find the treasure.

Billion-Dollar Naval Bill Is Sent to White House Today

Senate Committee Refuses to Lift Arms Embargo

Washington, May 13 (AP)—The Senate foreign relations committee responded promptly to Secretary Hull's expressed opposition today by shelving on a 17 to 1 vote the Nye resolution to lift the embargo on arms shipments to Spain.

Hull wrote the committee that "any proposal which contemplates a reversal of our policy of strict non-interference... would offer a real possibility of complications."

Chairman Pittman (D., Nev.) of the foreign relations committee said the committee's action meant action on the Nye resolution had been "postponed indefinitely." This usually is tantamount to killing a resolution.

It was not immediately disclosed which member of the foreign relations group had voted against delaying action.

Pittman said he had arranged to permit Senator Nye (R., N. D.), who now is out of the city, to appear before the committee next week to make any statement he wishes on behalf of the resolution.

The Nevada senator, asserted however, it was highly unlikely that the committee would reconsider its action.

Washington, May 13 (AP)—The Senate passed and sent to the White House today the administration's billion-dollar naval expansion bill.

The measure, pending in Congress since February, authorizes construction of 46 new fighting ships, 26 auxiliaries and 950 airplanes. Funds to carry out the program must be appropriated later.

Separate bills originally were passed by both chambers. A joint committee worked out a compromise carrying authorizations estimated at $1,000,000,000, and this was approved in the House by a 67 to 31 vote Wednesday.

Three new battleships and two 20,000-ton aircraft carriers are provided by the compromise bill. The battleships will be limited to 35,000 tons, unless the President finds that larger vessels are necessary in the interest of national defense. Upon such a finding, ships of up to 45,000 tons could be built.

The bill also carries authorization for a $3,000,000 dirigible provided the President finds one is needed.

President Roosevelt is expected to ask Congress before adjournment for funds to start work on some of the vessels.

Counting indentations and slanting the coastline of Norway measures about 12,000 miles.

Committed to Trial.
Ashford, Eng., May 13 (AP)—George Owen, 38, accused "with other persons not in custody" of breaking into Sir Edmund Davis' Kentish Castle and of receiving two paintings from a $300,000 burglary April 23, was committed to trial today on the latter charge. The court decided no evidence had been offered on the burglary charge and ruled that Owen be discharged on that count.

Recognizes Conquest.
Helsinki, May 13 (AP)—Finland today recognized the Italian conquest of Ethiopia. President Kyosti Kallio addressed new credentials for the Finnish minister in Rome, Rafael Waldemar Erich, to "Victor Emmanuel, King of Italy and Emperor of Abyssinia."

Today

Broadway: "Radio City Revels." A gay and tuneful film based on radio broadcasting is to be seen and heard at the Broadway Theatre with such big time performers as Kenny Baker, Robt. Burns, Milton Berle, Jack Oakie, Victor Moore and Ann Miller in featured assignments. The production is alive with humor, songs and songs and should appeal to all lovers of musical comedy.

Kingsboro: "Merrily We Live." In keeping with the current film trend to fantastic comedy, "Merrily We Live" rolls onto the Kingsboro screen in another rollicking travesty on modern living, modern ideas and conventional acceptances. Starring Brian Aherne and Constance Bennett, the production also features Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Bonita Granville and Tom Brown.

Orpheum: "Prison Nurse" and "Overland Express." A grim story of what goes on behind prison walls and especially in the hospital quarter and a western thriller are the double feature offerings at the Orpheum, the first with Marian Marsh and Henry Wilcoxon, the second starring the famous Buck Jones.

Tomorrow

Broadway: "There's Always a Woman." A spicy dish of murder and comedy is served with brilliant skill on the Broadway screen and leavens one of the bit pictures of the year because of its ability to combine high excitement with gay humor and to never lose sight of the fact that it should always be entertaining no matter what the situation. This then is the story of a private detective who begins to unravel a crime only to find a woman for ever sticking her nose into the scene. Joan Blondell and Melvyn Douglas are a perfect team in the starring roles and Miss Blondell is especially valuable to the film's success. Others in the cast are Jerome Cowan, Frances Drake and Mary Astor. This Columbia picture is well worth seeing.

Romance of Oil

Told Kiwanians

"The Romance of Oil," was brought forcefully to members of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday noon by Eugene Freer of the Standard Oil Co. of New York, his remarks tracing petroleum from the ground to the automobile exhaust pipe.

Mr. Freer, introduced by Program Chairman George Heindel, took his audience on a "verbal" newswheel trip, his first stop being several of the important oil fields of the country, notably in Pennsylvania, Texas, Oklahoma and California, where he classified the different type of crude oils. "The finding of oil is no longer the bit and miss proposition of the peach branch divining rod, but is a certainty by geological tests, so that no drilling is begun unless it has been determined definitely that oil is present in the ground," declared the speaker.

The process of drilling the well described as similar to that of probing for water, the drill making its ever deepening depression in the earth by being pulled up on the tower over the well and released, the force of its weight doing the drilling. Once the oil is tapped the next problem is to get it to a center where it may be transported to the refineries. The process of drilling the well is accomplished by long pipelines and pumping stations, lines which are guarded 24 hours a day, and on which are small refineries which take away a portion of the oil. Sometimes the oil is transported to foreign climates by tankers and sometimes it is sent to refineries by tank cars.

At the large refineries the oil is turned into gasoline, kerosene, motor oil, asphalt and other products by a process which is similar to the operation of a still. The oil is heated and as the various vapors come off at different temperatures and in certain order, they are collected and condensed into separate tanks. The gravity at which these vapors come from the crude oil determine the type of refined product.

In the case of the new high rating octane gasolines sometimes the refined product is "cracked" again and the new product is mixed in a certain percentage with natural gasoline, the resulting product being the common high test gasoline.

From the refineries the products are sent far and wide by tankers, tank trains and tank cars to local distributing centers, where they are wholesaled to the dealers.

Mr. Freer stated that the oil company chemical engineers work hand in hand with the automotive engineer developing new and better products so that the public may have cheap fuel, more power, carried by engines which continually weigh less. Cooperation, he said, is extended in all uses of oil.

In closing he invited, as a representative oil man, the Kiwanians to visit any of the local distributing centers to see what was being done.

The musical portion of the program was in charge of Harold V. Clayton, with Danny Bittner at the piano.

Too Much Food at Nyack

So Oranges Become Baseballs

Nyack, N. Y., May 13 (AP).—A surplus of perishable foodstuffs for the 221 families on relief in Orangetown township is disclosed in a report of Clifford O. Poole, township supervisor, today.

Clerk asked for the report after he received complaints that boys were playing baseball with high grade California oranges. Police said the oranges were part of 17,520 pounds received within three weeks. Every family on relief got a crate (48 pounds), although they had received another crate only a week earlier.

A similar story was told for other commodities, all received from the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation. For instance, Poole said, Orangetown received 9,400 pounds of kidney beans on April 13 as a month's supply. Allotments were troubled, but 74 bags remain in storage. Only yesterday 65 tubs of butter, weighing 60 pounds each, came in. With increased allowances, Poole distributed 20 tubs but the remainder went into cold storage, provided free by a local ice company. The government pays packing and trucking costs for the commodities, Poole explained, but does not provide storage charges.

Poole said the foodstuffs had been purchased in the open market by the government in the effort to peg prices, the foods thus acquired being sent to communities for local distribution.

Easy to Reduce to Your Ideal Weight

"Fat puts me on the shelf," laments Mrs. Plump. "I'll get slim I have to starve to do it." Bravo, Mrs. Plump! But let's have no talk of starving. Do as Willow did—reduce to three good meals a day based on low-calory foods.

Mrs. Willow, you see, nibbles much as any big eater in your crowd. But she turns down those high-calory weight-builders—peanuts, ice cream and doughnuts. She takes a tip from her low-calory diet, chooses instead low-calory substitutes—pop-corn, ginger ale, cheese crackers.

Easy, with such a chart to guide you, to trim calories to 100 a day and lose 2 pounds a week. And fun to find out what delicious low-calory dinners you have!

Typical is this one of only 509 calories: 1 glass tomato juice, 1 roast lamb, 5 stalks asparagus, 1 small potato, 1 teaspoon butter, 1 slice bread, 1 cup strawberries, 1 tablespoon powdered sugar.

What to do about your family, which can't afford to lose an ounce of weight? Put gravy on their meat, double their portions of potatoes and butter, pour cream on their strawberries.

Lucky for you, many low-calory foods are also protective ones. While your diet is bringing your figure under control, it firms your flesh—brightens your eye—makes a lovelier, healthier woman of you!

In our 40-page booklet, CHANGE YOUR WEIGHT FOR BEAUTY'S SAKE, are two weeks' low-calory menus based on protective foods with staying power. Calory chart. Exercises. Menus for gaining weight, also.

Appreciates the Good Work Done By Kingston Police

E. Frank Flanagan feels that the Kingston Police Department should be given recognition for the prompt and efficient manner in which it solved the theft of a number of checks mailed to Flanagan and stolen from the post office Saturday and also the speed with which it brought back from New York Bert Spears, who on Monday got away with a $35 overcoat and $5 in cash, in return for a bad check cashed in the Flanagan store.

The checks, four in number, were stolen from the Flanagan's post office box Saturday. The store knew nothing of the theft until Monday when inquiries from local stores which had cashed two of them, amounting to $36.50, disclosed the loss. The theft was reported to the Police Department late Monday afternoon and the next day it was reported that the offenders, several school girls, 12 to 14 years of age, had been located and had admitted the theft. They said that two checks had been cashed and two had been lost. They returned what money they had left from the two checks cashed.

It was Monday afternoon that Spears, a Providence, R. I., man, who was registered at the Stuyvesant, entered the store and bought a $35 overcoat. He said that all the money he had was a $40 "pay check." The check was accepted, but later turned out to be no good. The police were notified Tuesday morning and that night Spears was arrested in New York city. He was brought back to Kingston and Judge Cahill sentenced him to 60 days in the Ulster county jail. The overcoat was recovered, but the $5 was gone.

complaint of is an assessment which is a lien upon the property. The lien is a continuing one and affects the title, value and enjoyment of the property. The original realtor, having conveyed the property, is no longer interested in this proceeding. But the grantee is. Both authority and fairness require that the present owner of the property be permitted to continue the action and bring it to a conclusion, in order that the issues may be disposed of upon their merits.

"The motion is denied, with ten dollars costs."

Pending further appeals by the city, or settlement, the assessment matter will now be heard by Judge G. L. E. Hasbrouck, of a referee, to whom it was referred some time since.

It is stated that as concerns the Max L. Reben Realty Corporation something like $5,000 is involved. Determination of the matter may also affect other properties in that section.

Those who were elected to office will preside over the city on Student Government Day, the date of which will be fixed later. The other party in the field was the White Party.

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rawhide Lou Gehrig's dimples broke through a rueful smile. He had just flushed fanning for the second time against Bobby Feller's dippy-do's.

"Boy," he said, "anybody's going to be plenty lucky to get a hit off that kid this year."

It didn't matter that Rawhide stepped up to the plate a few minutes later and blasted one of Bobby's fast balls out of the lot for two runs; nor did it matter much that Bobby, in taking a 3-2 decision from the world champion Yankees yesterday, was lucky in being presented with a pair of unearned runs, which allowed the Cleveland Indians to finish on top.

What did matter was that the right-arm thrower from Iowa is so far improved over last year that he looks like two other fellows.

The most peculiar thing about Bobby's duel with Lefty Gomez yesterday, however, wasn't so much the fact that he allowed only five hits, fanned nine and walked only three. It was that Joe DiMaggio and belting Bill Dickey, who are great defensive ball players anytime came apart in just that spot. Each fumbled an easy one in the sixth inning to run Gomez's neat four-hit job of flinging and set up two of the Tribe's three tallies.

The defeat, coupled with the 7-6 beating Washington's ailing Senators handed the Detroit Tigers, dropped the Yankees out of first place in the American League, after a one day stay, and boosted the Nats back to the top.

Like the American League, the National presented a curtailed program of two games, with the Chicago Cubs' "double experiment" battling over trouncing the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Cincinnati's rule book blinding Casey Stengel's triplets. Bees, 1-0.

Everything else in both leagues was off because of rain or cold.

Grunics Going to Modena on Sunday

Sunday afternoon Charlie Grunwald's Home Leaders will go to Modena to oppose the home club in the opening of its baseball season. Starting time of the game is 2:15, so all of the Grunics are asked to be ready to leave Kingston at 1 o'clock.

Manager Charlie Diers of the Home Leaders was uncertain today about his starting pitcher. "I have not decided on any of my lineup," he told a sports editor. Neither has the Modena manager. Modena, according to Diers, hopes for a big baseball season this summer and is out to take the first game. "Those Modena boys want to go to town this year, and should give us a strong test."

Improvements have been made to the Modena diamond in anticipation of a big season.

Mrs. Grippin in Outboard Race

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., May 13 (AP)—Mrs. Kay Griffin looks at Sunday's Albany-New York outboard marathon as a series of firsts she hopes will be topped by her becoming the first woman to finish the grand.

Twice now Mrs. Griffin has tried and failed. In her first start, she failed to get much farther than a hundred yards from the starting line. Last year she went some 20 miles down river before motor trouble forced her out.

"But I'm not worrying," she said. "My boat, the 'Dickman Street,' is new and I've enough extra parts and help both at Albany and Poughkeepsie to pull me through."

The corporation is organized for the purpose of "entertainment and amusement" and at present is operating the miniature automobile speedway at Beaverville on the Lasher property.

The corporation is organized with $10,000 capital stock, consisting of 200 shares at a $50 par value. The principal office is located at town of Woodstock and there are five directors. The directors are Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock; Theron R. Lasher of Beaverville; Aaron Blushnick of Woodstock; William Dixon of Woodstock; and John Peper of Woodstock.

Races are to be held at the speedway over the Memorial Day holiday season.

Davi Hopes for 2nd Victory Over Saugerties on Sunday

Manager Fred Davi today said he hoped his Colonials would make it two in a row over Saugerties Sunday at Canine Field in the village where the Kingstonians must play because the northern Usterites refused to cavort on Pan Am diamond because of poor playing conditions.

"I hope we can make it two straight," said Davi, who is anxious about entering his club in the New York State League for the second half of the ball season. The Daviens got off to a poor start by dropping two contests, but came to life at Saugerties, where Joe Brown fanned 11 batsmen, and won by 3-1.

Davi did not know whom he would send to the pitching mound, but said that Bill Thomas probably would get the assignment. Brown having shown his wares last week. Bill got a tough break pitching against the Canadian American League at

The third game of the week in the City Baseball League goes on this evening at the Athletic Field bringing out the Knights of Columbus, a new club in the loop, against the Hedrick Brewers, who play Sunday ball in Stone Ridge as Fred Baumgarten's Huron Indians.

Lefty Martin is expected to take the mound for the Casey's with Joe Hoffman as his battery mate. Charlie Neff likely will toss for the Hedricks. In games so far, the Kyanize and Jones Dally have been victorious.

Scheduled starting time of games is 6 o'clock, but during this opening week, bad weather has marred the games. Cold weather and waiting for the sun to sink helps a position blinding to batters have been two irritating factors, too.

However, with the help of the weather man and a little more pressure on the part of the umpires the league is expected to function properly by next week. More bleachers have been promised by Mayor Heiselman, also seats for a grandstand behind the backstop.

Church Softball League

The First Presbyterian softball team put up a stubborn battle with the Comforters, champs of the Church League last year, Thursday night at Forsyth Park, but had to quit with the score knotted 6-6 on account of darkness.

Fresh from a 10-3 win over Port Ewen earlier in the week, the Comforters stepped out with a 3-1 lead in the first inning on scores featuring Chipe Rhymers' homer and a three bagger by the Rev. C. Mayskens.

In the fourth, the Presbys came through with two runs, making the score 5-3, and in the fifth each gleaned one to boost the tally to 6-1. The sixth saw the Presbyterians come through with another and the tying run in the seventh.

With Ward Tongue on second Harold Smith hit what looked like a double, but the umpire ruled it a foul. Darkness intervened and the game was called with the tally balanced.

CITY SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Hercules 7, Universals 1

Thursday night at Hasbrouck Park the Hercules softballers took the lead in the Industrial Division by trimming the newly reinforced Universals by the score of 7-1. Joe Brooks of the Powder-makers led the attack on Keller-house by banging out a homer, triple and a single for a perfect evening at the plate.

Jim Coogan, Hercules newly acquired ace from the 1932 city champs also garnered two safeties for the powder boys.

"K" Hertica showed mid-season form on the mound allowing the Universals but four scattered hits. Batteries: Universals, Keller-house and Carle; Hercules, Hertica and Kennedy.

Score by innings:

Universals 010 000 0-1

Hercules 500 101 x-7

Presbyterians and Comforters Tie 6-6

A four hit hurling performance, coupled with eight strikeouts which was written into the records of the Church League last night to the credit of the Rev. C. P. Mayskens, Comforter pitcher, brought no better results than a 6-6 tie in the game with the Presbyterians.

After battling for eight innings the two teams decided to call it quits for the evening. The Comforter defense buckled leading to the hitting of Dominic Mayskens and with the left side of his infield unable to handle the ball and making the majority of the 15 errors committed by the Comforters, Mayskens had to be content with a tie.

Harold Smith, Presby pitcher, also turned in a fine bit of work, allowing seven hits and striking out two men, and with the exception of one bad inning, Smith held the Comforters helpless. Chipe Rhymers, Comforter left-fielder, again led the hitting with a home run and a single out of three trips to the plate. Van Valkenburgh connected for a double for the Presbyterians.

Mayor Opens City League Season

Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman was among the crowd that arrived on time for the opening game of the City Baseball League Tuesday evening, at the Athletic Field. He threw out the first ball to start the loop after posing with the heads of the rival teams. From left to right are Manager Charlie Diers and Captain Eddie Minasian of the Grunwald Home Leaders, the Mayor and Captain George Zadany and Manager Johnnie Berardi of Jones Diary.

Saylor Defends Race Title June 11

Altoona, Pa., May 13.—Eugene Saylor, sensational, young driver, O., school teacher who skyrocketed to fame on the nation's automobile racing circuits, launches his defense of his national championship June 11 when the Altoona speedway dedicates its rebuilt track with a 100-mile flag day race.

Runnerup for the national title in 1932, Saylor blasted track records on a half dozen smaller ovals before capturing the 1932 Altoona Labor Day classic to give him undisputed ranking at the top of the list of drivers competing under the banner of the Central States Racing Association.

Saylor, first of an expected field of approximately 50 tonight, drivers to send in his entry, sounded warning that he would be a serious threat to retain his national title by making a clean sweep of the winter Florida State Fair events at Tampa and by annexing the southern championship with a series of record-breaking performances at Savannah, Ga.

Colonial Leaguers Feast and Get Prizes Awarded by Mayor

At the guest speaker at the annual banquet of the Colonial Bowling League, Thursday in Mr. Marion Inn, Mayor Conrad J. Heiselmann awarded the prizes to the honored platoon, the members of the Willywick Golf Club, champions of the league, Mill Street Garage keepers, and to the individual bowling stars.

Bowlers of the Willywicks to receive trophies were: Frank Schumacher, captain; Jack Wilson, Reuben Leventhal, Walt May, George Flemming, Ben Fein and Charles Tiano. Manager Al Katz was given a special trophy by the members of his team. Ben Fein made the presentation.

Trophies also were given to the second place Mill Street Garage team composed of Gil Sampson, Fred Rice, Harold Broskie, Herbert Van Dusen, Will Rappaport, Ken Van Dusen and Lacey Burger. Lacey Burger made the acceptance speech on behalf of his team.

In addition to the first and second place trophies were awarded to Gil Sampson for high average, 196; Lou Misasi for high single, 289, and George Flemming high triple 716. Special trophies also were awarded to bowlers who hit the high single score for their respective clubs.

Vice President Max Freund of the league opened the ceremony in the absence of President Joe Huber, and presented Ben Fein toastmaster of the occasion.

Besides Mayor Heiselmann, high in his praise of bowling, speakers last night were Lacey Burger, captain of the Mill Street Garage; Lou Misasi, high single man; Police Commissioner John B. Stierley; Tom Morrissey, president of the City League; Walt May, of Central Hudson; Roland Bradley of the Kingston Broadcasting Co.; Ken Van Eiten, secretary of the league; John Cleveland, old time Colonial Leaguer, and Charles Tiano, secretary of the Kingston Bowling Association.

After the turkey dinner and speeches, dancing was enjoyed with Vince Edwards and his band furnishing the music.

Winners in Horse Show

Atlantic City, N. J., May 13 (AP).—Golden Brew, a chestnut gelding owned by Mrs. Edgar Mayer's May Top Stable at Portchester, N. Y., and ridden by Morton W. Smith of Greenwich, Conn., carried off the Marlborough-Blenheim $1,000 jumper stake at the Atlantic City Horse Show last night.

Sargent Joe, owned by N. Harry Wagner of Media, Pa., was second. Smith took his second ribbon with Bartender, also of the May Top Stables, finishing third.

Tommy Lindsay, owned by Miss Fredericka Fry of Greenwich, Conn., was fourth.

Little Squire won the Professional Horsemen's Challenge Cup, surpassing fellows like Broadfield, owned by Capt. G. Hope, of Fairfax, Va.; Miss Fredericka Fry's entry Tommy Lindsay from Greenwich, Conn.; and the Thruster from Sydney S. Gilbert's Glenfuird Farm at North Salem, N. Y.

First Wildlife Legislation

What might be termed the first wildlife legislation in this country took effect just 200 years ago. In 1629 the West India Co. granted hunting privileges to persons planting colonies in New Netherlands.

By 1694 the first close season on game ever known in America had been declared in Massachusetts, which forbade the killing of deer during part of the year. The first American game officers were appointed in 1739. They were known as "deer wardens," and were the forerunners of our modern game wardens. The American Wildlife Institute.

Five Round Test for Raigins Tonight—Fein Fine Toastmaster

Migration Shoot At Wilmington Sunday, May 15

Wilmington, Del., May 13.—Leading trapshooters of the Atlantic Seaboard from Boston to South Carolina are gathering here for the 20th annual "migration" of the Atlantic Indians, which will be held on the Wilmington Trapshooting Association's grounds at Newcastle on Sunday, May 15.

"The Indians" is one of the oldest and most colorful trapshooting clubs in the country. Its present membership is at the 290 mark and includes nearly all of the best known scatter-gun marksmen in the East. Unlike most other trapshooting events, its annual spring and fall "migrations" are not open, but limited to the "braves" and the squaws and paposes of their immediate families with a limited number of guest shooters.

Three events are scheduled, as follows:

100 targets at 16 yards. This was won last year by Steve Crothers, Chestnut Hill, Pa., with a perfect score of 100. Walter Beaver, Conshohocken, Pa., broke 98 to win the Class A group. There are professional and amateur classifications in this event.

Distance handicap of 50 targets. This was won last year by W. T. Case, who broke 50 straight.

Doubles targets at 50. Walter Beaver, who won the American Amateur Championship at doubles last week at the New York Athletic Club, won this event last year, 47x50.

Thursday's Scores At Ulster Gun Club

A stiff wind made sheet shooting difficult and kept the scores low at the regular weekly shoot of the Ulster County Gun Club Thursday afternoon.

Frank Koenig, with strings of 21 and 19 for 40 out of 50, turned in the high total for the afternoon.

Again next Thursday, May 19, the sheet range will be open for the regular weekly session. Shooting starts at 5 p. m. and continues until dark.

Following are yesterday's scores:

F. Koenig 21+19=40
R. Coles 15+18=33
H. Van Winkle 18+20=38

Caterpillar Consumers

Cuckoos are among the few birds that will eat the fuzzy caterpillars. They eat so many of the hairy caterpillars that the walls of their stomachs actually become lined with the hairs. It is generally believed that the cuckoo builds no nests and lays its eggs in other birds' nests. This is true only of the European Cuckoo. The American Wildlife Institute.

The stage is set for tonight's boxing show at the municipal auditorium featuring an array of slugging talent that promises to duplicate the sparkling card run last week by the Kingston A. C.

On top of tonight's program, scheduled to start at 9 o'clock, is that Sergeant Perry vs. Johnny Bileski tilt, which should give the fans plenty to rave about when the West Pointer and Scotia Polish Pounder begin to throw leather.

Perry, although a light-heavyweight, took the Adirondack heavy title away from Bileski, who hopes to smother the Cavalryman tonight just as he did in their first bout which saw the Sergeant cut to ribbons.

In a comeback, the Soldier pummelled Bileski. He is out to repeat tonight.

Supporting the main is a semi-final between Vince Sempervino of Albany, one of the cleverest 142 pounders in the Adirondack A. A. U., and Eddie Steele, Poughkeepsie Wildman, the Hudson valley's champion slugger.

Last week Sempervino, winner of the Hawaiian title in 1932, defeated Richard Crenna in 1932, a bit with the local fans in overpowering the Golden Gloves title holder.

In the other two five rounders Honeyboy Raigins of Saugerties will mix it with Carlo Litz of Albany and Sammy Travatolo of Poughkeepsie will box Leo Sarniell of Albany.

The prelims for three rounds: Joe Bliss, Ellenville heavyweight, vs. Duke Bender. Hank Buntis, Kingston lightweight, vs. Johnny Mirable, Albany.

Monk Armstrong, Kingston welterweight, vs. Tommy McCann, Albany.

K.H.S. Track Team Beat Poughkeepsie

Kingston High School track team, victorious over Poughkeepsie and Middletown, moves into Cornwall Saturday afternoon for a tilt with the New York Military Academy leaders.

Although there has been no definite roster listed for tomorrow's meet, Coach Kias and Connick will undoubtedly use the following men in an effort to bring home another triumph.

100 yard dash—Weiner, Von Essen, Jones.

220—Weiner, Von Essen and Jones.

440—Wires, Cole and Soper.

880—Smith, Markle, Gilday.

1 Mile—Shultis, Beirach, Post and Toftel.

Discus—Argulewicz, Larkin, Sontar, Bailer and Rice.

Broad jump—Weiner, Douglas, Wilson, Von Essen, Mann, Litz, High jump—Haynes, Jones, Weiner, Ferguson, Von Essen.

Shot put—Decker, Larkin and Argulewicz.

Pole vault—Tsitsera, Samuels, Stahl.

Aristotle—Bird Authority

Aristotle, the naturalist and philosopher of ancient Greece, was one of the first to discuss bird migration, according to Frederick C. Lincoln, who is in charge of studies of the Distribution and Migration of Birds in The Biological Survey's division of Wildlife Research.

"Aristotle made many true statements regarding migration, but also sponsored some superstitions that persisted for several centuries," says Lincoln. "For instance, he believed certain birds hibernated, or went to sleep, during cold weather, because he was unable to explain their disappearance and reappearance in any other way.—The American Wildlife Institute.

SOME FISHING

(From the American Wildlife In.)

DO wet your hands carefully before handling undersized fish that are to be returned to the water. A dry hand will remove a protective covering of lubricant, making the fish susceptible to attacks by bacteria.

DO handle undersized fish gently and return them to the water carefully, so they will survive unharmed and provide better sport and more food for some other angler. Even if it isn't you.

DO use barbless hooks whenever you can. Such hooks provide better sport and make it possible to return undersized fish to the water with their mouths uninjured.

DO observe creel and size limits.

DO watch for tagged fish and report them to the agency doing the tagging. Only in this way can movements and growth rates be checked to help improve your sport.

DO take a militant part in the fight against pollution.

DO cooperate with your local game and fish agency in every way possible.

DON'T venture into the woods without a first aid kit and a knowledge of first aid in the outdoors.

DON'T be careless with fires or cigarettes. More than 30 per cent of all forest fires in the United States are man-caused, and, therefore, preventable.

Talk All You Want

Fish don't hear, they feel sound, according to Talbot Denmead, Chief of The Black Bass and Angler's Division of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

"We can make all the noise we want to on land while we're fishing," says Denmead, "and the fish won't become frightened because they can't hear it. But if we crack an oar against the side of a boat, that frightens the fish because it sets up a vibration in the water."

"I guess the old theory about not talking or making any noise while fishing was just started by some fellow that didn't want to take his wife fishing with him," Denmead says in explanation of the ancient belief.—The American Wildlife Institute.

Angling Ancient Art

Fishing is at least 3,338 years old on the records. A mural estimated to have been in existence in 2,000 B. C. depicts a man standing on a rock in the river fishing with a short rod and line.—The American Wildlife Institute.

Names in South America

Lucky is the tourist on a South American safari who finds it easy to pronounce the unfamiliar names of places along his route. So difficult for the stranger are some of these Indian and Spanish words that travel companies distribute a key to the pronunciation of towns, lakes and falls which tourists usually visit in a journey round the southern continent. Magallanes, for instance, is pronounced Mah-gal-yee-nayes, and Llanquihue, a lake in Chile's vacationland, sounds like Yankee-Way. Finally you reach the vermilion-painted Kasuga-no-Miya, a Shinto shrine which Fujiwara Fuhito founded in 710. It is dedicated to the original ancestor of the Fujiwara family, who was not of the Fujiwara family, but a good example of primitive Japanese architecture. The Kasuga shrine has often been rebuilt like most Shinto temples.

Posters Teach Chinese How Firearms Go Boom

ARMS AND THE GIRLS

Three San Francisco Chinatown ladies look over a war poster distributed by the Chinese government. One of a series, the poster describes the construction of modern firearms for the education of the masses at home.

By The AP Feature Service
San Francisco—How China's masses are being educated in the technique of war is revealed in a set of posters just received in San Francisco's Chinatown.

The posters bear minute analyses of virtually every modern fighting instrument, from bombing planes to hand grenades.
One picture is a cross-section of a land mine, explaining to the reader how it explodes when stepped upon accidentally.

Chinese here who have read the legends say they give a civilian a comprehensive knowledge of the construction and use of firearms, and are evidently intended for wide dissemination behind the front. They say they also would be useful in the training of recruits.

War spirit remains high in Chinatown, whose 20,000 population has contributed more than $1,000,000 to the home government.

Students Learn Economics of Marriage in Mail Order Book

Knockville, Tenn., May 13 (AP).—
Students at Karna High School have just about decided there is something more to the cost of marriage than the price of the license.

"From a mail order catalogue
we tried to outfit a five-room house with a thousand dollars," wrote one of the pupils to Principal R. B. Houston a pioneer in the teaching of trials and problems of marriage to high school students.

"Now a thousand dollars seemed like a fortune to us, but even this wouldn't allow us to have the things we would want to start housekeeping."

"One hundred and twenty-five dollars a month sounded like a good salary, but we found that we couldn't even afford a car on that amount."

Weaving of the famous Nanking tapestries is another ancient

About Gladiolus Culture

By The Master Gardener
All of our garden varieties of gladiolus are descended from species found in South Africa.

Gladiolus are very useful to give perpendicular effects to the garden or border.

Gladiolus are especially beautiful with a background of shrubs, but when planted near shrubs, they must have plenty of water and plant food, to replenish the supplies used by the shrubs.

Even in the open ground, gladiolus require plenty of nourishment. When planting, apply a complete, balanced plant food in the bottom of the trench at the rate of 2 lbs. per 100 feet of row.
Cover this with a little soil before planting so the corns do not come in direct contact with the plant food.

When the corns have made a growth of 6 to 8 inches, feed again, using 3 lbs. of complete plant food per 100 feet of row.
Feed again when the flower buds are setting, using about 2 lbs.
of plant food per 100 feet of row.

Cultivate frequently, to keep the surface soil open and well aerated.

For general use as cut flowers, cut the spikes just as the first flower is opening, then place in deep cold water in a dark place for several hours to soak up water.

In cutting spikes, leave at least four leaves on the plant to mature the corn.

In selecting a container for gladiolus, do not use one that is too tall and stiff. The spikes will

GARDEN HINTS

Don't let spring get too far advanced before reseeding the lawn, spots in the lawn, and applying plant food.

Follow the farmer's practice of rotating crops in the vegetable patch.

Most plant experts consider manure more harmful than good for lawns. Large quantities of noxious weed seeds are broadcast in this way, and the lawn is an unsightly mess for months after the first application. Use a complete plant food instead.

Plan for a full season of radishes this year. They are one of the earliest crops, and if you choose your varieties carefully, are one of the latest as well.
Spring, summer, fall and winter radishes may be grown.

If your perennial border was straggly and barren in spots last year, plan ahead of time for annuals to fill in the dull places.

A little plant food will work wonders with a poor soil.

Flowering Shrubs

Many people are admiring the beautiful flowering shrubs on the residence property of John Orr on Main street extension. The shrubs are bent to the ground with sprays of pure white flowers which present a most pleasing spectacle.

show off to greater advantage in a shorter vase having a considerable flare at the top to allow stems to be inserted at an angle.
Use spikes of various lengths. Use the shorter spikes in the front of an arrangement.

Transplanting Technique

Transplanting is a task which one must perform throughout the garden year. So vigorous are the young plants which we move, so often do they survive carelessness, we are apt to neglect even the simple technique which will greatly reduce the proportion of failures.

But failures do occur and not all result in dead plants which can be removed and replaced.
Often careless transplanting will result in an ailing plant, or one which fails to produce flowers or fruit of good quality. The following points, if carefully observed, will insure that your young plants have a reasonable chance of survival.

Dig a hole large enough to spread out the roots without crowding. In the case of seedlings which have a long tap root, it will help promote stocky growth if this tap root is shortened. Avoid permitting air pockets to be formed among the roots. See that soil is filled in properly to cover the roots, and then firm the soil so that contact is close, since without this contact the roots cannot absorb water from the soil. Seedlings should usually be set a little deeper than they stood in the flat.

In the case of overgrown plants, it may be wise to lay the stem horizontally under the soil for several inches, rather than let it project above the surface; this is especially the case with tomatoes.

Soms of the top of each seedling should be trimmed off to balance the loss of roots which is inevitable when plants are moved.
About half the leaf area may be removed. The soil should be soaked after the transplanting operation is finished. A little dry soil sprinkled over the surface will check evaporation. If the sun is hot the plants should be shaded for a day or so by means of paper tents, berry boxes, or similar device, until the roots begin to absorb moisture to balance evaporation.

Small seedlings may be planted in holes made by a dibber. This is a steel, wood or iron tool with a round blunt point which is stabbed into the ground and twisted, a much faster operation than using a trowel.

Observe distances carefully in transplanting. The little plants may seem lonely when set two or three feet apart, but remember the size they will attain at maturity and see they have room enough to develop their best.

Vigorous growth in seedlings will be assured if plant food is applied while they are small. It will enable them to develop a good root system, which will feed them well. In transplanting vegetables, mix thoroughly one level tablespoonful of complete plant food with the soil in the bottom of the hole before setting the plant. Then apply plant food over a radius two feet from the plant at the rate of one rounded teaspoonful to each square foot of ground.

Four to six weeks later another application of plant food at the rate of two pounds per 100 square feet may be made. This is equivalent to a rounded teaspoonful for two square feet. Apply evenly over the soil surface except that immediately adjacent to the plant.

Please understand that we cannot offer every size in color and style. Naturally if ranges were complete it would be impossible for us to offer such splendid savings. Early visitors will not be disappointed, however!
